GANGSTERS
KILL MAN IN LID
CLUB AND ESCAPE

Harry Dunn, Who Had Been Implicated by the Police in Two Previous Killings, Shot to Death in "Cap" Troll's Resort.

SLAYERS ABANDON CAR
AFTER THE MURDER

Seven or Eight Men Took Part in Shooting Victim Six Times—Bystander Also Hit by Stray Bullet.

Harry Dunn, 34 years old, 5214 Dickson street, listed by the police as a pickpocket and known to his associates as "Charley," was shot in the head six times and killed at Charles (Cap) Troll's Press Club in the rear of 712 Pine street, about 3 o'clock this morning.

The slayers, believed by the police to be professional "gunmen," arrived at the club in a seven-passenger automobile a few minutes before the shooting. After Dunn was killed they fled, abandoning the machine.

Dunn, 4015 Washington street, assistant foreman of the Republic composing room, was wounded in the foot by one of the bullets fired at Dunn. His injury is not serious.

The shooting of Dunn, the police believe, was an aftermath of the killing of Harry Roman, a fighter known in the prize ring as "Jack O'Brien," at the 10th Precinct Democratic Club, 1074 Third street, a month ago. It was a matter of gossip in the club circles that Dunn knew more than any one else about the killing.

Troll, telephone 3 a. m. today, "Cap" called the Central District Police Station on the telephone and said: "They've just killed a man at the Typo-Press Club. Send some policemen here."

The policemen arrived they found Troll standing at the entrance to the club, which is in an alley. Troll pointed to a touring car which stood at the Pine street entrance to the alley, half a block north of the club. "There were six or seven of them and they came in that machine," Troll said.

The car bore license No. 23,237, and was identified as the property of Arthur W. of 548 E. 1st street, an operator of news cars. Vay told the police that the car was standing at the entrance of North and Olive streets and was in charge of Paul Kronberg, a chauffeur, of 1815 Chatham avenue.

Kronberg surrendered to the police this afternoon. He said six strangers entered his car at Ninth and Olive streets and drove to the Typo-Press Club. He went in with them for a drink and when the shooting started he ran.

Police Find Dunn Dead.

Troll led the policemen into the basement, where they found Dunn lying dead on the floor near the east end of the bar. They arrested Mason Brown, the bartender, and Ben White, the lunch counter man, who were the only persons in the bar when they were arrested.

Others arrested to be held as witnesses were Henry Rowe, of 2338 North Thirteenth street; Ben Watson, 1815 East Grand avenue; and George Mack, a bartender, of the Madison Hotel, 10th and Market streets.

Troll also was arrested and held until 10 a. m., when he was released on bond. John (Skinny) Groves, a well-known politician known as "Tammany," also was present when the shooting occurred and an order for his arrest was issued.

Seven or Eight in Gang.

De Lay, seen by policemen at the scene, gave the only connected account of the shooting. He said that after quitting work he went to the Typo-Press Club, a machine, when he entered a group of seven or eight men was standing at the east end of the bar.

De Lay said he and Moore went to the rear end of the bar. The group at the rear seemed in earnest conversation but was not noisy. He heard the shouting when they were sober. Then he felt a stinging pain in his back. He ran into a rear room and heard four more shots and the sound of shouting fell as those in the club-room fled.

After the killing of O'Brien at the Fifth Ward Club, that club was closed by the police and since then Dunn and Moore, who gathered there have been frequent visitors.

Dunn was held for a time in connection with the killing of John Greenwald, a front of a saloon at Goodfellow and the Brilliant avenues, Dec. 21 last, when information which led to Dunn's arrest, was shot and mortally wounded at 22nd and Morgan streets two days ago. He died three days later in the city hospital, after saying he did not know who shot him. Gus Dittmer, 300 S. 1st street, was arrested. He was shot accidentally shot Toomey while working at a highwayman.

That sets a record for swiftness of justice in this State.

ALLEGED ZINC SMELTER GASES
KILLED GRAPES, WANT $65,900

Twenty-Eight Residents of "Little Italy" at Collinsville Bring Action Against Owners of Plant.

Twenty-eight residents of a neighborhood in Collinsville known as "Little Italy" today filed in the Circuit Court at Edwardsville suits aggregating $65,900 against the Eagle Picher Lead Co., the Picher Lead Co., and the Collinsville Zinc Co. for damages which they allege their property has suffered from gases and fumes discharged from the Collinsville zinc smelter operated by the defendants.

Nearly all the plaintiffs raised grapes on their property, and it is alleged that the plants have been destroyed by the smelter gases.

Angelo Gulmay, who asked for $6000 damages, alleged that he formerly made wine from his grapes, but that since the smelter began operations two years ago his grapes had been destroyed and his business ruined.

HAZING ABSENT AT COLUMBIA

University of Missouri Freshmen Greeted With Offers of Aid.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 19.—For the first time that old-timers here can remember there was an absence of the customary hazing of freshmen entering Missouri University at the beginning of the new school term yesterday. On their arrival the freshmen were greeted by upper classmen who proffered them aid and information, instead of jeering at them. First-year students still are requested to wear colored skull caps, but this is merely a means of identification.

Student President H. C. Doster said that any sophomores found guilty of hazing a freshman would be turned over to the Student Senate and punishment would be recommended.

BANKERS' TRUST CO.
CASE BEFORE U. S.
DISTRICT ATTORNEY

He Considers Presenting Postoffice Inspectors' Evidence to Grand Jury.

HAS HAD IT SIX MONTHS

Says He Will Act If His Study of It Discloses Violation of Statutes.

United States District Attorney Oliver has under consideration the presentation before the Federal Grand Jury, which met this morning, of evidence gathered by Postoffice inspectors who about six months ago recommended to him the prosecution of certain officers of the Bankers Trust Co., which after a meteoric career collapsed in 1914, with a loss to its stockholders of $4,250,000, and which caused the failure of several banks with which it was affiliated.

The probability of the case being presented to the grand jury within the next few weeks was discounted when District Judge Dyer, in delivering his charge to the grand jury, said that he had been informed by the District Attorney that the jury would be able to complete the matters ready for its immediate attention by Friday. This means that the jury will take a recess Friday for several weeks. It is believed the Bankers Trust case alone would occupy the jury for several days.

The recommendation of the Postoffice inspectors has remained unfinished business in the District Attorney's office since about the beginning of the last Federal Grand Jury in March.

The investigation was begun in the summer of 1915 by Monte G. Price, the Postoffice Department's expert in St. Louis on matters involving financial transactions, intricate schemes of high finance and manipulations of stocks, bonds and credits.

Several specialists treated her, but investigation was refused when a Postoffice reporter called at the inspectors' office. District Attorney Oliver said yesterday that he had the Bankers Trust matter under consideration, but he determined what he would do about it.

Oliver Studying Report.

He said he had not had an opportunity to study the report until last Sunday, when he worked all day on it. He said that if it disclosed a violation of Federal statutes he would present the evidence to the grand jury.

It was reported that the failure to take the case before the March grand jury would prevent the use of some evidence, which is barred by the statute of limitations, but it is said there is other evidence of a similar character which can be used.

The investigation by Inspector Price was begun on complaint of Harry C. Morrow of Clayton, formerly a special vice president of the Bankers Trust Co. Shortly after the collapse, when the Bankers Trust stock had dropped from $100 to $20 a share in six weeks, Morrow employed expert accountants to make an audit of the company's affairs. As a result of this audit he filed suit against the company for $18,588.88, which he alleged he had lost through investments in the stock of the company.

Morrow presented to Inspector Price evidence which he contended showed that there had been a manipulation of affairs of the company whereby a fictitious valuation for its stock had been created by the payment of dividends of from 15 to 20 per cent annually, although the earnings of the company lacked many thousands of dollars of equaling the amount paid out in dividends.

Company Borrowed Heavily.

The audit that Morrow turned over to the Postoffice Inspector showed that at the time the dividends were being paid the company was a heavy borrower, and that it obtained funds on securities owned by it and later paid out parts of the money borrowed in dividends. The audit showed that in eight years the Bankers Trust paid out in dividends $213,105.71 more than it earned in that time.

The collapse of the Bankers Trust followed the paying of its regular quarterly dividend in May, 1914. By that time it had obtained all the money it could get on its securities and it had nothing to pay in dividends.

The complaint also charged that some officers of the company had sold stock

WOMAN HURT JULY 16,
IN AUTOMOBILE, DIES

Mrs. Florence A. Wiest Never Conscious After Accident—Truck Hit Her Machine.

Mrs. Florence A. Wiest, 54 years old, of 5983 Cates avenue, died this morning at St. John's Hospital from injuries received in an automobile accident July 16. She had been partially or totally unconscious since the accident and an operation on her brain three weeks ago failed to restore her to consciousness or improve her condition.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Wiest, who had started on a trip to Chicago, was going to Union Station in an automobile driven by Floyd S. Youtsey. At Taylor and McPherson avenues the machine was struck by an automobile truck of the Webb-Bretter Bakery Co., driven by Ellis Jones, 25, of 2892 Cass avenue. The truck was coming out of an alley. Mrs. Wiest was thrown to the street and her skull was fractured, six ribs were broken and her right arm and right leg were fractured.

BREAD LOAVES SMALLER HERE

St. Louis gets an 11-ounce loaf of bread on an average, while other large cities have a one-pound (16-ounce) or a two-pound loaf, according to James W. Griffin, inspector of weights and measures.

Griffin today asked Director of Public Safety Swingle to obtain an opinion from the City Council as to whether he, Griffin, has any power to fix a standard weight for a loaf of bread. If he has such power, he intends to prescribe 16 ounces as the standard. If he has not the power, he will ask the Board of Aldermen to pass an ordinance like those in force in Boston, New York, Chicago and Philadelphia.

GREEK ROYALIST NEWSPAPER
BEGINS A PRO-WAR CAMPAIGN

Publishes First of Articles Intended to Prepare People for Country's Entry in Conflict.

ATHENS, Sept. 19.—The royalist organ, "Forward," publishes today the opening article in a pro-war campaign, intended to prepare the opinion of Greeks for the entry of their country into the war. The newspaper demands the release of the Greek soldiers made prisoners by the Bulgarians at Kavala and an explanation, plainly indicating that the alternative will be war. It says: "Only those who are treated as prisoners who surrender to the enemy. We know that Premier Kallagropoulos has taken steps with Germany for the immediate return of our soldiers with all their effects. If this demand is not at once satisfied, the Government must consider the measures to be taken."

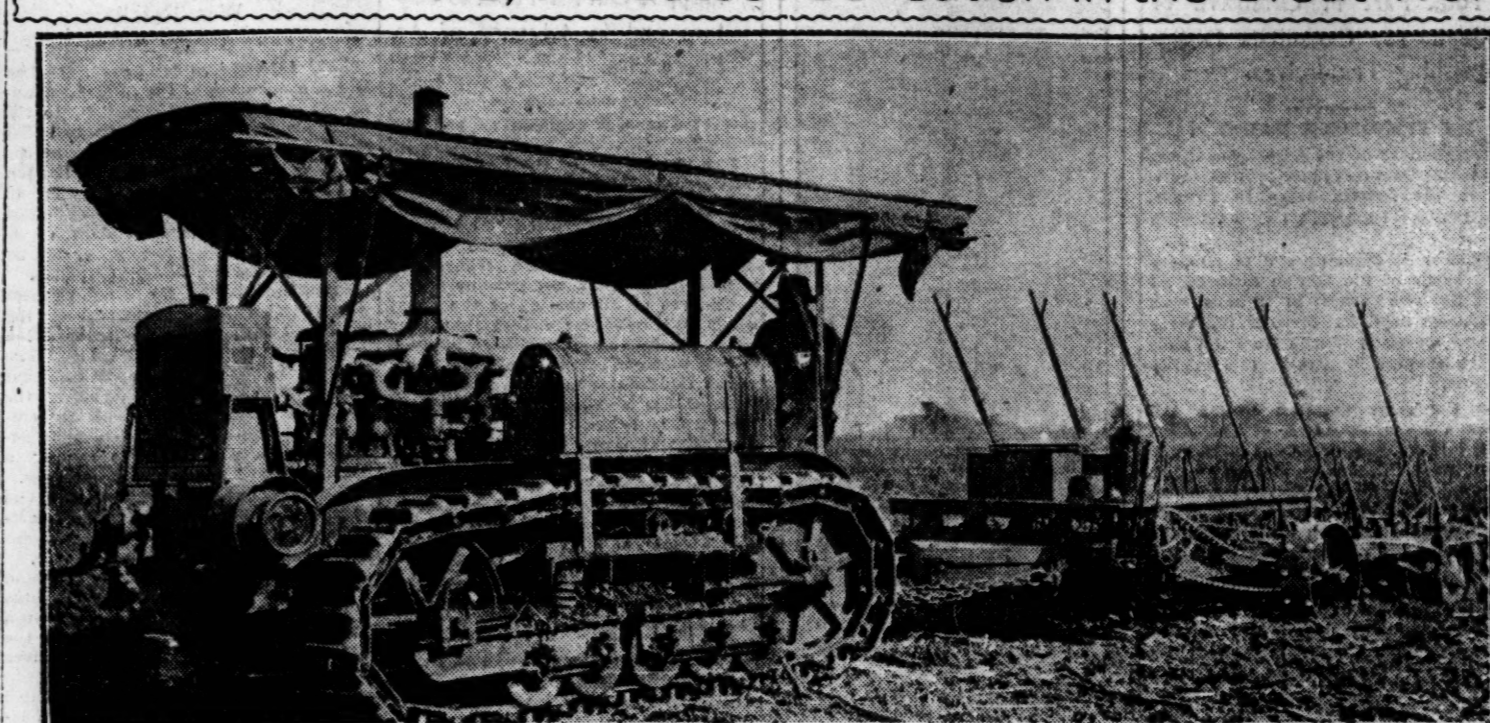

NOT A NICKEL IN SUBTREASURY

Banks Use Coins That Usually Are Turned In.

There wasn't a nickel in the United States Subtreasury in St. Louis when the vaults were unlocked this morning. Nevertheless there was $46,302,463.20 in the vaults.

The Subtreasury usually gets its nickels from the banks, and most of them come from the United Railways receipts, but recently the banks have been using many nickels and have not been turning them in to the Subtreasury.

Subtreasury Vandiver said this is due to the demand among country banks for small change in connection with the crop moving, which is large every year, but never before so great as now. He has been informed by the Treasury Department that there is a scarcity of small coins all over the country, and that the Denver and Philadelphia mints are coining nickels to their full capacity. Up to the end of the fiscal year 1913, he said, the government had coined nickels amounting to $40,128,347.55, all of which are in circulation except those lost or destroyed.

American Tractor on Which British Have Built Their Armored Cars, the Latest Sensation in the Great War

THE tractor crawls on two belts, with corrugated surfaces on either side of the body. The corrugated surface is on the ground. On the inside of the belts, on each side of the body, are two lines of steel rails, making four lines in all. These rails are in short sections, jointed and operate over a cogged mechanism that actually lays them down with their belt attachment as the tractor moves ahead and picks them up again, so that the car runs on its own self-made track continuously.

The short joints in the rails make it easy to turn to right or left. The

GERMANS ATTACK
RUSSIAN TROOPS
IN CHAMPAGNE

Five Successive Assaults Repulsed by Machine Gun and Artillery Fire—Rain Stops Operations on Somme.

British Take Strong Work on Mile Front—French Capture 1600 Prisoners in Two Days.

Bulgars Driven Out of Florina by Drive of French Troops, Assisted by Russians.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—While bad weather stopped operations on the Somme front last night, following the advance of the British and French yesterday, the Germans took the offensive in the Champagne district of France last night, making five successive attacks on the Russian troops stationed there. The Russian War Office report today says that each time the Germans were checked by the Russian machine gun and artillery fire.

"Heavy and continuous rain has fallen during the last 24 hours," says today's British account of operations in France. "The general situation is unchanged. In the neighborhood of Richebourg l'Avoue (northwest of La Bassée) we entered the enemy's trenches at three places, capturing prisoners and a machine gun and inflicting many casualties. Our casualties were very slight. "Since last night's report five more of our aeroplanes have failed to return.

British Gains on Mile Front.

British gains were recorded in the official statement last night as follows: "South of the Ancre our troops made another important advance today. A strongly fortified German work was situated between Bouleux wood and Ginchy, known as the Quadrilateral, which hitherto resisted our efforts, has fallen completely into our hands. As a result of its capture our line has been advanced to a depth of about 1000 yards along a one-mile front.

"Seven machine guns and numerous prisoners were taken in the course of this highly successful operation.

"The enemy counter attacks north of Fiers were driven back with loss, and we made progress. Hostile troops massing for a counter attack at Les Bouffes and Morval, were caught by our artillery and dispersed.

"Besides the guns already reported since the morning of the 15th, we have taken five heavy howitzers, two field guns, three heavy and three light trench mortars and a number of machine guns. The total number of prisoners taken in the last 24 hours is 10 officers and 500 men.

There was considerable aerial activity yesterday. Several enemy machines were driven down. Four of our machines are missing.

The French official report of last night said: "North of the Somme a brisk attack gave us the mastery of a group of trenches 200 meters south of Comblis; we took 50 prisoners.

"1600 Prisoners Taken.

"South of the Somme fierce fighting continued at Denicourt. Our infantry, after capturing the village and last of its defenders, has driven back the enemy's advanced position to a distance of about a kilometer (two-thirds of a mile) to the south in the direction of Ablancourt. Simultaneous operations enabled us to occupy a trench west of Horny, and oust the enemy from three small woods southeast of Denicourt and also to occupy several trenches to the southwest.

"The total number of unwounded prisoners taken Sunday and Monday in this sector exceeds 1600, of whom 35 are officers.

"On the left bank of the Meuse (Verdun front) we captured a German trench on the southern slopes of Dead Man Hill, some prisoners remaining in our hands."

BULGARS DRIVEN OUT OF FLORINA

French, Aided by Russians, Take Important Town—Servians Advance.

PARIS, Sept. 19.—Florina, an important town in Northwestern Macedonia, was carried by assault by French troops yesterday, according to an official statement issued here last night, which said: "East of the Cerna; Serbian troops have reached the approaches to Mount Vetrinik and repulsed violent Bulgarian attacks. Further south, Serbian detachments continue to advance, despite the difficulty of the ground, and have, with a single rush, carried along the crest of Kaimaktsalan the first Bulgarian line, which was strongly organized and defended by numerous wire entanglements. Heavy counter attacks launched during the night were repulsed completely.

"Northwest of Lake Ostrovo Serbian infantry continues the crossing the River Droda, while the artillery enjoi

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—A proposal to omit from the prayer book of the Protestant Episcopal Church prayers for Jews, Turks, infidels and heretics, will be submitted to the Episcopal triennial general convention to be held in St. Louis in October.

The proposal to eliminate the Jews from Episcopal prayers is based on the ground that it is an insult to class them with infidels and heretics. The purpose in striking out the Turks from the prayers is to avoid confusing them with Mohammedans.

CORRESPONDENT TELLS OF WAR'S MOST PICTURESQUE AND DRAMATIC BATTLE

British "Tanks" Looked Like Prehistoric Monsters

Men From All Ends of Earth Took Part in Offensive of Sept. 15, Canadians Distinguishing Themselves.

BY FREDERICK PALMER.

Correspondent of the Associated Press, American correspondent accredited to the British army in France, BRITISH FRONT, IN FRANCE, Sept. 19.

THE most dramatic and picturesque battle of the British army in all its two years in France was fought on Sept. 15. Here is the story of how all kinds of men from the ends of the earth took part in this mighty conflict.

In the same dressing station this week the correspondent of the Associated Press has seen Canadians, New Zealanders, English, Scotch, Irish, Newfoundlanders and Americans. These were some of the men of many countries who took part in the now historic battle and with them there went into action those armored motor cars called "tanks," which are to the credit of a quiet officer of engineers. When the correspondent met this officer in London six months ago and asked him what job he was now on, he replied: "Sh! Sh! Don't tell."

It was the "tanks" that completed the wonderful business of this battle. Today, when the correspondent was calling on a Canadian Brigadier, it was a "tank" called the "Cordon Rouge," looking like a prehistoric monster in a skin of modern armor and with engines inside which took him across the field of shell craters, weaving its way with pitiful adaptability by zigzagging from one place to the door of the Brigadier's dugout.

"Tank" Reports for Orders. The skipper of the "Cordon Rouge" alighted and, with phlegmatic drawl, announced that he reported for further orders. The Brigadier laughingly bade him not to start the brute down the stairs of the dugout, but to move it to one side and wait. So the "tank" ambled with the bulky leisure of a hippopotamus over more shell craters to a place where it would be out of the way until it was needed.

Then the correspondent went over the ground which the Canadians had taken up to the edge of the village of Courcellette. Later they stormed the village. He met Canadians who had come from Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. But when he asked some of them what part of Canada they hailed from they replied: "The same country as you do—the United States."

There were men from the states of Missouri and New England and others who, on the soil of France, hailed one another in the French tongue of Quebec.

"We got into a big show, all right," said the Americans. "That is what we came here for. These men who rushed to the attack on the ridges of the Somme against machine gun fire and shells carried themselves by all accounts in manner worthy of the traditions of the Civil War. It was the Canadians' first offensive on any big scale. They had stood the shock of attack at the second battle of Ypres, at St. Eloi, Orrel Hill and Sanctuary Wood, and it had been their fortune to be present to stand under the blows rather than give them. They wanted their chance on the Somme to make good, as they said, and they had it.

Retreat With Many Stories. This rainy day saw battalions of them marching out from the trenches they had won and other battalions marching in. These fresh from the fight were plastered with mud, but triumphant. They had a hundred stories to tell while the rain pelted from their tarpaulins, of how the "Byng boys" had made good."

The wounded, all drenched by the rain, eagerly joined in these stories. The Canadians are known as the "Byng boys," after the name of their corps commander, Gen. Sir Julian Byng, and also by virtue of a popular song in London entitled: "The Byng Boys are here."

Gen. Byng grasped the idea that the Canadians have initiative. Just there, as far as the correspondent could learn, are the essentials of the universally admitted brilliant stroke which the Canadians dealt when it came their turn to play their part in the colossal plan of the Somme offensive. In other words, Gen. Byng understood that given a goal the men of North America would go to it with all they were in them, ready to take a pinch-hit chance.

The correspondent went over the ground today where they went to it and saw where they stuck in trenches under shell-fire which they had gained after their second charge and which were not in the original plan. The night before the battle the staff officer in charge of that branch of the front showed the correspondent the Canadian objective. No home run was expected from them, but only a sacrifice fly, to use baseball language, but they made a home run.

In other words, Gen. Byng understood that given a goal the men of North America would go to it with all they were in them, ready to take a pinch-hit chance.

The correspondent went over the ground today where they went to it and saw where they stuck in trenches under shell-fire which they had gained after their second charge and which were not in the original plan. The night before the battle the staff officer in charge of that branch of the front showed the correspondent the Canadian objective. No home run was expected from them, but only a sacrifice fly, to use baseball language, but they made a home run.

Gen. Byng grasped the idea that the Canadians have initiative. Just there, as far as the correspondent could learn, are the essentials of the universally admitted brilliant stroke which the Canadians dealt when it came their turn to play their part in the colossal plan of the Somme offensive. FREDERICK PALMER.

Soldiers Swept Beyond Points Mapped Out for Them to Capture and in Advance of Artillery Fire.

time, but on this occasion we had him going."

But the exploit of the Canadians is only one of the many chapters which may be told now of what these soldiers humorously called "The tank offensive," having reference to the new armored motor cars. There was a London division, comprising representatives of all classes of the great city's life, who were told that they must reach their objective in a given time. In front of them in High Wood was a fastness of machine guns which neither the artillery nor the trench mortars had been able to reduce.

However, it was the business of the Londoners to be on time in reaching the given point on the map and to hold on there until further notice. "These orders were all very simple and direct," said one of the Londoners afterwards, with a grim smile, "but these Germans in their fort knew it was a life and death fight and all that was required of them was to put their fingers on the triggers of their machine guns when we charged. We left it to the blooming tank."

We had to take chances on those machine guns shooting into our backs if the tanks could not do the job. But orders were orders, as we were taught when we left our happy homes to go soldiering in France and take it as it came. The little country we reached it and tanks wiped out the machine guns."

Then there were the New Zealanders. They are known from the Aussies by the colors of their uniforms. They came from 18,000 miles away. "Proud, 'laughy lot to look at," said a London cockney. "You might think they was all lords, but when you gets to know them they're human and most generous with their 'igh pay."

Resist Counter Attack. The New Zealanders also had their orders of the "go there and stay there" kind. They went and later on the situation was given consideration. The explanation was made that it was the Carraña idea to put both Mexican and foreign interests upon the same footing, allowing preference to neither. It was said by the U. S. representative that the hope was that such a policy would make Mexican development by foreign capital both possible and profitable, instead of the present conditions of those heretofore in existence which have given rise to complications with foreign governments by reason of preferences given to foreign nationals. It was expected that the new policy of equal rights a great opportunity would be given to all with capital and that the conditions in Mexico would become more peaceful by reason of becoming less subject to outside contentions."

60 Prisoners Taken During Attack on Chihuahua City Executed. CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mex., Sept. 19.—Eighty prisoners taken in the engagement between Villa's forces and Government troops, Saturday, have been executed. These include M. Chao, formerly Villa's chief of staff, and Mariano Tames, who as a colonel in Juarez, recently attempted unsuccessfully to induce the garrison there to revolt.

The Federal and municipal palaces suffered most heavily in the engagement, huge trees in the Plaza Hidalgo being literally stripped of their limbs by the steady stream of lead poured through them. The bandits rode their horses inside the palaces and tore from their hangings costly tapestries, paintings and mirrors. Furniture was broken into splinters and doors pulled from their hinges. Bodies of men and animals lay about on carpets.

When they reached their final objective, where they were to have it out with the Germans, in as hard fighting as ever the war has known. An Irishman in the Irish guards exclaimed: "Is this as far as they told us to go? Sure, I haven't got my second wind yet."

More than once, facing counter attacks, the British have gone out to meet the German charges in the open with the bayonet and the Germans have done the same. All past records in ferocity of fighting seemed to have been surpassed during the latest British advance. So freely was life given and so wonderful was the courage shown on both sides that the whole thing seems unreal to the spectator. In today's mist and rain the consciousness of the steady stream of lead pouring over the heads of the troops marching up to the front from the rear to take their place in the next battle of this tremendous offensive.

BREAD AND BUTTER, 10 CENTS. Patrons of Lunch Room Protest Against Charge. Charging 10 cents for bread and butter caused such a storm of protest at the St. Louis Lunch Room, 325 Locust street, yesterday, that the plan was modified today. Hereafter bread and butter will be included with 5-cent orders, but persons eating less than 35 cents' worth will have to pay 10 cents extra for their bread and butter.

Not one of the downtown eating places has put a price on bread and butter. It has long been the custom of the Midway Lunch Co., 215 Pine street, however, to charge 5 cents for bread and butter if the order is less than 35 cents.

DISCUSS BANKING; RIDE ON SUBMARINE

Carranza Commissioners Say Order Closing Two Mexico City Banks Was Retaliatory.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 19.—The Mexican members of the joint Mexican-American commission admitted to the American representatives today that the order leading to the closing of the National Bank and the Bank of Mexico in Mexico City was in large measure retaliatory. The order provided that banks must show a metallic reserve sufficient to cover the issue of bank notes, dollar for dollar.

The discussion of the commissioners was confined almost entirely to the banking question, the border situation being considered only incidentally. The Mexican representatives explained that certain banking houses, especially the two that closed, had persistently embarrassed the administration by reactionary tactics tending to cause a depreciation of the Carranza currency.

The commissioners went aboard one of the American submarines this afternoon and cruised along the Thames River and the mouth of the harbor. Villa's attack on Chihuahua City and the repulse of his forces by Gen. Trevino will tend to clarify relations between the United States, in the opinion of the Mexican representatives on the commission.

The Mexican commissioners pointed out yesterday that if Villa had been located by the action at Chihuahua, the task of punishing him down would be greatly simplified. They suggested that if Gen. Pershing's force now in Mexico is withdrawn, a Mexican force would take its place and thus prevent Villa raiding to the northward. Gen. Trevino, in the opinion of the commissioners, is a man of high intelligence.

The Mexican members brought sharply to the front, yesterday, the question of border control and of the American troops in Mexico. This was due, it is understood, to an official communication from their Government in which they were asked why they were discussing the internal affairs of their country with the representatives of another Government.

An official statement issued by the commission said: "The policy of the Mexican Government toward American and foreign interests was given consideration. The explanation was made that it was the Carranza idea to put both Mexican and foreign interests upon the same footing, allowing preference to neither. It was said by the U. S. representative that the hope was that such a policy would make Mexican development by foreign capital both possible and profitable, instead of the present conditions of those heretofore in existence which have given rise to complications with foreign governments by reason of preferences given to foreign nationals. It was expected that the new policy of equal rights a great opportunity would be given to all with capital and that the conditions in Mexico would become more peaceful by reason of becoming less subject to outside contentions."

Report on Taxation. Lawrence Freely, chairman of the committee on taxation, made a report reviewing the record of the last year regarding the taxation of life insurance companies.

"The most serious legislation of the year, from the viewpoint of taxation of life insurance, was the new revenue bill which was passed by the Federal Congress this month," the report said. "This bill will change the federal income tax on all life insurance companies from one to two per cent. The amount involved in the increase, estimated on the basis of income taxes paid by life insurance companies this year, will be between $20,000 and $40,000."

The report told of the defeat of a bill in the Rhode Island legislature providing for a uniform tax on all life insurance companies of two per cent, and of the defeat in the Louisiana legislature of a bill levying a tax of 10 per cent on insurance premium collected by foreign companies and a tax of five per cent on premiums collected by domestic companies.

The afternoon program contained the following addresses: "Our Salemen," by Dr. Arthur A. Hamerschlag, director Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa.; "Salesmanship," by Arthur Frederick Sheldon, president Sheldon School of Salesmanship; "Unusual Methods of Approach," discussion led by W. E. Bilheimer, St. Louis.

The visitors will be entertained to-night at Sunset Hill Country Club by the St. Louis Association.

PROMOTES THRIFT, E. A. WOODS SAYS

Underwriters' President Tells Convention Delegates Business Helps to End Poverty.

"Life insurance is the most practical and effective method known to end poverty," said Edward A. Woods, president of the National Association of Underwriters, in his address this morning at the opening session of the twenty-seventh annual convention of the association at the Planters Hotel. He spoke in response to the address of welcome by W. E. Bilheimer, president of the St. Louis Life Underwriters' Association.

Several hundred delegates from all parts of the United States were present for the opening session and it was said that 100 would be here by tomorrow night, when Secretary of War Baker will speak at the Coliseum in President Wilson's stead. The convention will continue three days.

"Insurance is in constant warfare with poverty and ruin, and is ever victorious," said President Woods. "It has been a desire of the association for some time to form a closer alliance with the bodies interested in the great problem of averting dependency, promoting thrift and lessening poverty, that both ourselves and the public may recognize the great part played by life insurance in relieving society of this burden rather than cure."

Theme of Convention. "We will form a higher idea of the social value and necessity of our institution and perhaps the State may be thus led to encourage instead of penalize by taxation such gigantic, voluntary effort of the most thrifty families and themselves a duty that otherwise would fall on the State. We ourselves, the public, and especially the law makers, should realize that by means of life insurance 25,000,000 Americans are adopting the most practical and effective method there is to end poverty."

In urging education of the public in the benefits of life insurance he touched upon a theme which apparently is the keynote of the convention. Almost all the papers to be read deal with some phase of the education problem.

The parlor floor of the Planters contains an extensive display emphasizing the need of education. There are stacks of literature for free distribution, and placards and charts tell of the advantages of life insurance. Much of this information is in the form of advertisements for the various companies.

The morning was taken up with reports of officers and committees. The treasurer reported a large gain in dues paying members, St. Louis showing the greatest gain of any city by paying $800 in dues this year as compared with $323 last year. New York is the only city paying a larger amount, $1400. There are now 110 local associations affiliated with the national organization with a total of 600 members, the report showed. There were several women among the delegates.

PRESIDENT TO COMPLETE HIS CAMPAIGN PLANS THIS WEEK

First Reception to Delegates at Shadow Lawn to Be Saturday—Baltimore Speech Monday.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—President Wilson passed through here early today en route to Long Branch, N. J., from Columbia, S. C., where he attended the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Annie E. Howe, yesterday. The train is due at 2:30 this afternoon at West End, N. J., two miles from Shadow Lawn.

The President expects to plunge into campaign plans tomorrow. Later this week he will see Vance McCormick, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and with him map out a program of receptions to delegations at Shadow Lawn and short speech-making trips. His first speech away from the White House will be at Baltimore next Monday. Saturday he will speak at at least two delegations at Shadow Lawn.

From now on Mr. Wilson plans to make up for lost time and meet the critics of Charles E. Hughes, the Republican Presidential candidate. The points he wants to discuss include the settlement of the threatened railroad strike, the legislative record of the administration, the Mexican problem and European questions, the record of the Republican party and subjects affecting Progressives.

Representatives of about 30 unions united in calling upon their organizations to strike if settlement with the transit companies should not be forthcoming. The union men asked to be taken this action include 300,000 members of the United Hebrew Trades, 800 stationary engineers and firemen, 25,000 longshoremen, 20,000 subway builders, 1200 masters, gates and pilots, 2,000 teamsters, 3000 tidewater boatmen and 1,500 machinists.

Members of the United Hebrew Trades, the longshoremen and the teamsters already have voted to strike, it is believed. The union men asked to be taken this action include 300,000 members of the United Hebrew Trades, 800 stationary engineers and firemen, 25,000 longshoremen, 20,000 subway builders, 1200 masters, gates and pilots, 2,000 teamsters, 3000 tidewater boatmen and 1,500 machinists.

President Wilson's of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. said it seemed absurd to negotiate further, and that the company would have no more dealings with the carmen's union, but that it was willing to consider any proposition from the Mayor.

The street railway strike was extended to Queens County early today, when 6000 conductors and motormen of the New York & Queens County Railway went out in protest against the use of their members to operate cars and buses in the strike in Manhattan. Union leaders say 14 street car lines in Queens are tied up, but the company claimed that 80 per cent of its cars were in service and that not more than 300 men had left their places. Thousands of Queens residents who work in Manhattan are tied by ferry and automobile.

Republicans Remind Voters Prohibition Will Be Issue. Post Cards Sent Out by City Committee Indicate Recipient's Failing Place. "Prohibition will be voted on this fall."

This line appears on post cards which the Republican City Committee has sent through the mail to all Republican or supposed Republican voters. Each card indicates the place where the recipient should register and the signatory citizens are reminded to have their naturalization papers with them.

Republican politicians in the city welcome the appearance of a prohibition proposal, or anything that looks like one, on the ballot at a State or national election. They believe it causes many to register who otherwise might not take the trouble to do so, and who consider it more important to vote against prohibition than to vote for or against any man or party. These voters, once registered, usually vote the Republican ticket, it is believed.

BRIG-GEN. PERSHING LIKELY TO BE MADE MAJOR GENERAL. Vacancy in the Higher Grade Caused by Death of Gen. Mills, Chief of Militia Bureau.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Brigadier-General John J. Pershing, a native of Missouri, commander of the American expedition in Mexico and ranking Brigadier of the army, probably will be made a Major-General, a vacancy in that grade having been created by the death yesterday of Major-General Mills. A successor to Gen. Mills as chief of the Bureau of Militia Affairs has not been selected.

Killed by Fall From Wagon. Anrew Gleich, 45 years old, a teamster, of 1725 North Ninth street, slipped while trying to adjust the reins of his team at Twelfth and Salisbury streets yesterday and fell to the street, fracturing his skull. He died at the city hospital last night.

Acid Stomachs Are

Nine Tenth of All Stomach Trouble
Due to Acidity Says New York
Physician.

A well-known New York physician who has made a special study of stomach and intestinal diseases recently made the startling statement that nearly all of the vital organs, are directly traceable to excessive stomach acidity commonly termed sour stomach or heartburn which not only irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach
but may often cause gastritis and dangerous stomach ulcers.

Neglect, he says, easily leads to a chronic super-acidity, commonly taken for indigestion and is the principal cause for the indiscriminate swallowing
of the various so-called patent digestive aids which bring only temporary and false relief.

In an acid condition of the stomach
no artificial digestant whatever should be employed as these are likely to merely pass the sour, burning acid on into the intestines, causing serious trouble
of some simple, harmless and inexpensive remedy. Dissolve the Gass Dies in a glass of water and take it after each meal. There will be no need for medicine as all acid conditions will be promptly removed. Buffers from acidity will be removed and the stomach will be a few ounces of the pure buffered treatment a trial. In fact, however, various varieties of medicine used for various purposes. The Gass Dies are designed to get it only in the
a few minutes and to insure its effect.—ADV.

HUGHES ACKS
FEDERAL RESERVE
IN ILLINOIS SPEECH

Opens Second Campaign Tour
With Address to Republican Convention at Peoria.

DENIES WILSON CLAIMS

Calls Democratic Record One of
"Broken Promises"—Says
Congress Was Extravagant.

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 19.—Charles E.
Hughes, opening his second presidential campaign trip in an address before the Republican State convention here today, characterized the Democratic party as a "party of broken promises, which now presents extravagant claims."

The nominee took up point after point checked on in President Wilson's speech of acceptance and declared that the claims made therein were extravagant and that "nothing of the sort had been accomplished."

"I believe," Hughes said, "that credit should be given where credit is due,
but I think it important that no man should claim to have done what he has not done."

"Our opponents present a record of broken promises. They promised to reduce the cost of living. They have not touched it."

"They promised to prevent waste and extravagance. They have been more extravagant in the recent Congress, as I am informed, on unimpeachable authority, than any preceding Congress."

"Betrayed Merit System."
"Our opponents promised to apply the principles of the merit system. They have betrayed the merit system."

"Our opponents promised to reduce unemployment. Instead, they have appointed useless officers."

"Our opponents promised that the rights of American citizens should be maintained throughout the world, their rights with respect to life and property.
They have shamelessly failed to perform that promise."

"Facts are facts, and extravagant claims cannot deceive the intelligent electorate."

"Our opponents claim they have clar-ified the anti-trust law by definition. I may say here and now that they have done nothing of the sort. They claim they have recuperated the merchant marine. They have done nothing of the sort."

"The Federal reserve act as indorsed by the administration and presented to Congress was a wholly unworkable bill.
It was finally worked out by students and bankers until it emerged in different form, but that system as it is contains dangerous possibilities of inflation."

"Our opponents claim to have emancipated child labor. As a body, they have not emancipated child labor. If our opponents are genuinely devoted to the interests of children let them act in States under their control and there would be no child labor problem in the United States. The Republican party

"Let us be fair. I do not deny to our opponents any reasonable credit for what they have done, but I protest against their taking Republican work

it from the country for finally aiding dinary claim of all—by the passage of the Underwood bill. There is the true relation of our opponents to our Ameri-

sent forth our workmen in hundreds of thousands upon the street looking for employment."

an aid to American industry. The soon-

MANY GERMAN INDUSTRIES
MAKE INCREASED PROFITS

Reports for Fiscal Year of 1915 Show Largest Gains in Leather and Chemical Companies.

BERLIN, via London, Sept. 19.—Complete returns for the fiscal year of 1915
indicate that German industries, so far from suffering from the war, appear to have profited extensively. The war's beneficial effects are especially marked
in the leather and the chemical and dye industries.

The annual statements of 40 of Germany's largest leather companies show that their profits in 1915 were 37.70 percent, as compared with 20.38 per cent
in 1914, while 114 chemical and dye companies averaged 31.14 per cent against 19.22 in 1914.

The statistics for 19 varieties of industries and comprising 2900 firms, show that all have profited from 37 plus, the figure attained by leather, to 1.88, the
of fats and oils drove the profits of the lines above 34 per cent. Textiles, notwithstanding handicaps, made nearly 24 per cent; iron profited almost as heavily. Foodstuffs, necessities and luxuries, reckoned together made 14.57 per cent. The only losers have been the building industries, papers, hotels, restaurants and miscellaneous industries.

Ten minutes later Joseph L. Hemp,
the secretary, entered the office and

DRIVER OF AUTO
THAT KILLED GIRL
HELD UNDER BOND

Inquest Will Be Held Tomorrow
Into Death of Alice Grierson,
Six Years Old.

An inquest will be held tomorrow into the death of Alice Grierson, 6 years old, daughter of Albert Grierson, 322A Olive street, former member of the House of Delegates, who was killed by an automobile at 3:30 p. m. yesterday
at Pine street and Ewing avenue.

The machine was driven by Branch F. Spencer, of 624 Washington avenue, an employee of the T. H. Garrett Lumber Co.
He was arrested and released on bond.

Spencer told a Post-Dispatch reporter
today that he was driving east on Pine street about 10 or 15 miles an hour when the accident occurred. He said he saw the Grierson girl and a boy companion
cross Pine street from south to north.
Suddenly the girl, who had almost reached the north curb, turned and started for the south side of the street.

He said his machine was but a few feet away at the time and before he could stop the child was hit by the fender and dragged a few feet. He took the girl to the dispensary in his auto. "There
she was found to be dead."

On Way From School.
The Grierson girl, when run down,
was on her way from the Pope school,
at Ewing and Laclede avenues with two companions, William Kees, 10, 232
Olive street, and Henry May, 10, 232
Olive street.

Kees' version of the accident agrees
in most details with that of Spencer.
He told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he had been in the habit of going home from school with Alice. They had crossed Pine street to within a few feet of the north curb, he said, when a girl
on the south side of the street, called to Alice.

"I saw the machine coming," the boy
said, "and said to Alice 'Look out, there's an automobile coming. Don't go back.' I guess the machine was about 15 feet away at that time and I think it was going about 15 miles an hour. I tried to grab Alice's arm but she ran toward the south side of the street. The machine hit her and dragged her about six feet. Then I think one of the wheels ran over her head."

The boy thought that the girl who had called to Alice had a bag of candy
and had offered her some.

Street Commissioner Sailer said there is no city ordinance requiring the posting of notices near schoolhouses warning motorists to go slow. He says the school authorities had voluntarily caused such warnings to be posted near several school buildings. There is none near the Pope School.

PASTOR AT GOLF WHILE
COUPLE WAIT AT CHURCH

The Rev. Courtney Jones
Thought Spiers—Sisson Wedding Was to Be Later.

Bride, bridegroom and guests were assembled Saturday afternoon at Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Webster
Groves, for the marriage of Miss Julia Dupre Sisson and Albert Carr
Spiers when it was discovered that the Rev. Courtney Jones, the pastor, who had been asked to perform the ceremony, was missing.

Search was made and the preacher
was found playing golf at the Algonquin Club. He was told that the folks were waiting at the church. He said he understood the wedding was to be at 8 o'clock, instead of 5 o'clock. He jumped out of his golfing clothes and into his clerical clothes and motored to the church, arriving at 5:45. The ceremony was performed without further delay.

The wedding was a fashionable event in spite of the delay. Spiers and his bride accepted the situation good naturely and did not permit the circumstance to worry them as an ill omen.

presented to the Countess Rischl Mi-chid of Vienna by the Grand Duke Boris of Russia, was lost by or stolen from Mme. Frederick Tagliavia, of 58 West Seventy-fourth street.

This became known yesterday when a local insurance company wired Chief Detective Larkin of Chicago that a reward of $500 would be paid for its return. The string disappeared Aug. 15 when Mme. Tagliavia was at French Lick Springs, Ind. She bought the pearls from the Countess. Their value is not known, but they were insured for $10,-

KIEL, HOOKE AND KINSEY
AGAINST LEASING BRIDGE

Believe Eads Structure Can Be Used by City Under More Favorable Terms.

Director of Public Utilities Hooke declines to give his approval to the plan for the city to lease Eads Bridge from the Terminal Railroad Association, suggested yesterday by C. E. Smith, consulting engineer for the Department of Public Utilities.

The proposal to negotiate with the Terminal Association for the use of both decks of Eads Bridge, Director Hooke said, has his concurrence, but he thinks the assumption by the city of all the charges now carried by the Terminal Association would be too great a burden.

"It is possible that by providing for suitable connections between the Terminal and other lines and the east approach of the free bridge we may obtain the use of Eads bridge on favorable terms without leasing it at a figure equaling the overhead
charges and the cost of maintenance," Hooke said. "These expenses," it is likely, would be borne by interurban
and local electric lines which could be brought to St. Louis over the lower deck.

"The whole plan is tentative and represents only the basis of negotiations with the Terminal Association.
The proposition will go before the Board of Public Service and ultimately, if it takes definite shape, before the Board of Aldermen for modification. The problem of meeting the needs of St. Louis for better transportation from its suburbs and across the river is so big that a year or more will be required for its study."

"I favor the creation of a railroad
division, as Engineer Smith's report suggests, for the investigation of the subject of municipal docks, terminals and bridges and of rapid transit in and beyond the city limits."

BLACKMAIL GANG SUSPECTS WILL BE ARRAIGNED TODAY

Release of Several on Bonds Is Likely and Hearing May Be Continued.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Release on bond of several members of the alleged blackmail syndicate arrested in a Federal raid here, and possible continuance of their preliminary hearing is in prospect today as witnesses from Eastern cities arrived in Chicago to testify against them.

James Christian, one of the four men arrested with three women, was freed on bond late last night. His bail was reduced from $5000 to $2500 when officials admitted that they had little evidence to connect him with the alleged fleeing of Mrs. Regina Clipper of Philadelphia, the principal witness. The bail of three other members of the gang may be reduced today. The alleged leaders, however, will be held under $25,000 bond each unless United States Commissioner Foote, before whom they will be arraigned, can be prevailed upon by Charles Arstein, their counsel, to reduce them.

These three are Helen Evers, the so-called "siren" of the gang; Edward "Doc" Donohue, and Harry "Stick" Russell.

Mrs. Clipper is expected in Chicago today to testify at the hearing set for 2 p. m.

Evidence Not Disclosed.

The secrets of letters, photographs and other instruments of blackmail, said to have been found in the apartment where the gang were arrested, will not be revealed, Federal officials said.

A detailed statement as to the direct cause of the apprehension of the gang was made by an official of the Department of Justice. He said a confession by Crocker to obtain immunity for a petty larceny offense was the opening wedge. Crocker, the official said, was arrested early in the spring for theft of a diamond ring from a New York society woman at Tampa, Fla., and told his story of the blackmail.

This confession was obtained in March or April, but it was not until the week of the Republican national convention here in June that the first member of the "syndicate" was arrested. This one was George Irwin, who later disappeared after giving bail.

Two weeks ago, working on Crocker's information, agents of the Department of Justice arrested William Butler, who, it was learned, was already under bond of $15,000 in connection with an alleged attempt to blackmail Mrs. Winpenny.

The details of the Clipper blackmail case as they appear in the files of Commissioner Mason's court show that Crocker met Mrs. Clipper in the Empire Hotel in New York early in last January. She is a Philadelphia widow with two small children. She went to New York as a buyer for a Philadelphia department store last January and put up at the Empire Hotel. Frank Crocker met her in a flirtation. He had dinner with her and took her to a theater. That night he and Mrs. Clipper occupied the same apartment at the Empire.

It was after midnight that George Irwin, William Butler and Edward Donahue knocked at the door. Crocker affected great indignation when they entered. The three intruders wore badges of the Government secret service. One of them produced a warrant. It was for the arrest of the couple for violation of the Mann act.

Crocker affected great surprise. Donahue smashed him with his fist in the nose and knocked him down. Crocker wrote a check for $500 on a Boston bank and handed it over.

"There does not seem any way out of this except for both of us to kick in," he remarked to Mrs. Clipper.

She took his advice and gave up her diamonds and $50. The men threatened to arrest her later unless she gave more money. Next day they accompanied Mrs. Clipper back to Philadelphia, where she wrote a check for $500 and gave it to the men.

When officials of the Department of Justice informed her of Crocker's character, she still regained her faith in him. "He was one of the nicest men I ever met," she said.

The mystery surrounding the killing of William Turner, alias Wilson, in a mountain resort in Jefferson County, Colo., last June, may be cleared up through some member of the blackmail syndicate, it was reported. Turner was said to have been slain following an argument over division of spoils in a blackmail scheme in which his Denver woman was said to have been the victim.

BROTHERS-IN-LAW IN FIGHT

Fined $200 Each on Charges of Disturbing Peace.

George Winkle, a teamster, of 2706 Blair avenue, and Chester Hammond, a photographer of 1210 Benton street, brothers-in-law, were fined $200 each in police court today for disturbing each other's peace.

Hammond went last Friday to the home of Winkle's mother, Mrs. Catherine Skelly, 1463 Benton street, to see if his wife was there. He testified that Winkle hit him. Winkle said he hit Hammond because Hammond had threatened to kill his Skelly if his wife left him. She had left him the Monday before and Winkle said he supposed Hammond had come to kill his mother-in-law.

PREACHER, NEW TO POLITICS, MAY BE FLORIDA GOVERNOR

Has Received Democratic Nomination, Which Heretofore Has Been Equivalent to Election.

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 18.—The Rev. Sidney J. Catts, a Baptist preacher who resigned the pulpit of Bethel Baptist Church at Depot, Ala., is now the central figure in the stormiest political fight in the history of Florida. Several weeks ago the State Canvassing Board gave him the certificate of nomination for Governor by the Democratic party as a result of the primary of June 6, and nomination formerly has been equivalent to election to that office.

Catts' fight for the Democratic nomination for Governor was made with the support of the Guardians of Liberty and a large number of prohibitionists. If he should be elected on Nov. 7, his would be a unique political victory, inasmuch as a preacher will have stepped out of the pulpit on a religious plank into a Governor's mansion.

Friends Fear for His Life.
The most bitter animosities have developed between the two main political factions within the Democratic party of Florida, and it is feared that serious consequences may follow. Friends of Catts are much concerned over his personal safety. Within the State and without they have warned him of the possibility of assassination, but his courage has not wavered, and warnings apparently have served only to increase his efforts to clinch his victory.

Discussing some of the unusual aspects of Catts' success, the Tampa Morning Tribune said, in an editorial: "The successful candidate was an entire stranger to the people of Florida when he announced his candidacy. His first announcements were greeted with derision—as a political joke. It is doubtful if there were more than a dozen citizens of Florida who entertained the slightest idea that he had a possible chance. Yet he defeated four of the strongest and best-known men in the State. He had against him not only these four men and their following, but practically the solid liquor influence, office-holding influence, Catholic influence, and the State press."

"He made his race practically without a campaign fund, had no money of his own, and here in Tampa, watching the count of the votes, was without the price of a railroad ticket back to his home at De Funiak. Throughout the campaign he boldly denounced from the stump certain things which no candidate for office in Florida had ever dared denounce, pursuing a campaign policy which had always theretofore been considered equivalent to political suicide. Yet this man, a newcomer, a virtually a stranger, with no record of public performance to stand upon, with no part in the history of the State, political, commercial, or otherwise, has been chosen as its next Governor."

Control Knott of Jacksonville, the most formidable opponent of Catts. In display advertisements preceding the primary he announced his qualifications for the highest office in the State. His record included six years as State Auditor, nine years as State Treasurer and four years as Controller.

"The governorship race is a pretty problem," read a news article in the Tampa Times on the day of the election. "It lies between Controller W. V. Knott and Ion L. Farris of Jacksonville. The other candidates are F. M. Hudson of Miami, F. A. Wood of St. Petersburg and S. J. Catts of De Funiak, the anti-Catholic candidate."

In an editorial of the same issue the Tampa Times said: "Unless the valued strength of the Guardians of Liberty is greater than thinking men now believe it to be, either Ion L. Farris or W. V. Knott will be the next Governor of Florida. If the boasted strength of that organization proves a reality the State may be afflicted with Sidney J. Catts."

Spent Little Money.

It cost Catts to make his race less than half as much as any of his opponents spent. His report to the secretary of State on campaign expenditures showed that he had spent $1752, as compared to $3963 by Hudson and $3860 by Farris. His expenditures were small of necessity. He never was a man of wealth. When he resigned his pulpit in 1904 he removed to Pleasant Hill, Dallas County, Ala., where he entered upon farming and mercantile ventures, while at intervals he preached to rural congregations.

Sidney Johnstone Catts was born near Pleasant Hill, Ala., July 31, 1863. He attended Howard College, a Baptist denominational institution, in 1878, and later entered the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. In 1882 he was graduated from Lebanon (Tenn.) Law School, and two years later he entered the Baptist ministry. He served longest as pastor of the Baptist Church at Fort Deposit, which he left to accept a call to the First Baptist Church at Tuskegee, and he subsequently returned to Fort Deposit. In 1904, just prior to his resignation from the church at Fort Deposit, Catts was a candidate for Congress from the Fifth Congressional District of Alabama, but was defeated by J. Thomas Heifling, the present Representative.

BABY WAR ORPHAN ADOPTED BY WIFE OF RICHARD ELKINS

Its Father Was Killed in Trenches
in Flanders and Mother Died.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 19.—Richard Elkins, youngest son of the late Senator Stephen B. Elkins of West Virginia, announces that the bright-eyed baby his wife wheels along the Atlantic City board walk every afternoon is the child of a soldier who was killed in the trenches in Flanders, and whose mother died soon after the baby's birth.

Beginning life, May 23, 1915, the baby weighed only 2 1/2 pounds. The father had been killed several months before, and when the mother died a physician said the only hope of saving the baby's life lay in the incubator. The nearest one then was at Luna Park, Coney Island.

Mrs. Louise Recht, in charge of the incubator, began to care for baby John. With the aid of scientific nursing, he began to gain in weight, and within two months was large enough to be transferred to the incubators at the Atlantic City board walk.

Mrs. Elkins, a frequent visitor to the institution, became deeply interested in the "war orphan," which had a fascinating smile. She made confidential inquiries about his parents, after which she announced that she wished to adopt the baby and bring it up as her own. The maternal grandmother of the child was informed of Mrs. Elkins' desire. She was reluctant at first to decide, but finally consented to the adoption because of what it meant for the baby's future.

Mrs. Elkins, before her marriage five years ago, was Miss Wilhelmina Lonsdale. The family moved to Washington after the death of her father, a Memphis business man.

Lieut. Kettle Killed in Action.
DUBLIN, Sept. 19.—Lieut. Thomas Michael Kettle, professor of economics in the National University, has been killed in action at Ghinchi. He was a brother-in-law of the late Sheehy Skeffington, who was shot during the recent uprising in Ireland. In 1906 Prof. Kettle made a tour of the United States.

To Sell $39.50 $49.50 and $69.50 at

Year in and year out our entire organization specializes in Women's and Misses' apparel. How well we have succeeded in Suit specialization is reflected in the Suits we have secured to sell at the three prices mentioned.

Such Suits at such prices are enough to reconcile milady to the passing of summertime.

We have never, in all our merchandising experience, shown so large or so attractive an assemblage of Suits at any range of prices.

There are Broadcloths, Wool Velours, Duvetyn, fine Serges, Gabardines and French Poplins.

Such shades as taupe, Burgundy, plum, jungle and Java brown, crow blue, raven black, green, and, of course, plenty of navies.

The Jackets are in many lengths—so many that any figure can find a becoming style and length—some are belted models, some with plaits, some semi-fitted with ripple skirts and gathered waistlines. Plainly tailored models are included as well as styles with large collars and fancy sleeves with fur or velvet trimming.

CROWN PRINCE IN CLOSE TOUCH WITH MEN

Tries to Know as Many Privates Personally as Is Possible.

BERLIN, via London, Sept. 13.—The personal human side of Crown Prince Frederick William is portrayed in an unusual way by Karl Rosner in the Lokai Anzeiger in the course of a description of an automobile ride Rosner had with the Crown Prince recently.

As a long column of soldiers passed the automobile on their way from the front to reserve positions the Crown Prince, as far as was possible, greeted each of the soldiers personally. He reminded the correspondent of the time when he had only the Argonne army and said he had made it his business to know each private personally, if possible. Shortly after he received charge of an entire army group the Crown Prince in Berlin visited a hospital and found one of his old troops wounded. In conversation with him the Crown Prince asked if the soldier knew the Crown Prince, and received the following answer:

"Yes, indeed. The Crown Prince is often with us in the trenches. But if I may be permitted to make a suggestion, Frau Kronprinzessin, tell your husband he ought not to come there."

The Crown Prince, according to Rosner, followed up the story with the following comment:

"My wife sent me the message all right, though it did not do much good. You see, here with the huge number of men that are under me, I cannot come into a close personal touch with the individual as I would like to, but I believe that here, too, the men know that each single one of them is a personal factor whom I never forget for a minute. He is a human being as I am—a part of our German people. That which gives us superiority and strength over others in this feeling on the part of German army leaders, this respect for and ethical estimation of the individual—for when all is said and done we are fighting for the maintenance of Germany and the future of the German blood."

"So it is that we prepare each move down to the smallest detail in order that results may be achieved with the least possible sacrifice of the costliest of all treasures—blood."

REPUBLICANS DENY POLITICAL MOVIE HAS BEEN APPROVED

National Committee Men Have Censured It So Extensively Much of Work Must Be Done Over.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Having censured the moving picture film entitled "Watchful Waiting" to such an extent that most of the work will have to be done over again, some members of the Republican National Committee denied that the picture as described had ever been approved.

Former Senator Everett Colby of New Jersey, in charge of the Republican moving picture campaign, spokesman for the committee, said in effect, it was preposterous to say anything indecent would be produced.

The man who portrayed President Wilson is George W. Johnston of Brooklyn, a Captain in the Thirteenth Coast Defense, N. G. N. Y. He said: "I had known the film was to be used for political purposes I never would have taken the part."

ERIE PRESIDENT DECLARES WILSON DIDN'T PLAY POLITICS

Says Railroad Chiefs Were Not Opposed to Eight-Hour Day, as They Feel It Ought to Come.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—President Underwood of the Erie Railroad has repudiated in an interview published in the Milwaukee Journal and made public at Democratic national headquarters yesterday, the charge that President Wilson "played politics" in the railroad strike settlement.

"The railroad chiefs of the country were not opposed to the eight-hour day," said Underwood. "There is a general feeling that the eight-hour day will come and ought to come. The eight-hour-day law will cost the Erie Railroad $3,000,000 a year. I do not believe any additional legislation is needed."

The Interstate Commerce Commission can take care of the rate in rates if any should be needed. If the commission could take care of both wages and rates there would be no objection, because the commission is unquestionably honest and capable."

"Mr. Wilson, however, is not playing politics. He was doing what he honestly believed was for the good of the country. No one could associate with Mr. Wilson as the railroad men of the country did during these negotiations and charge Mr. Wilson with playing politics in any way. Only some newspapers charged the President with working for political effect."

It's not too late for our special funeral spray: $2.50 each. Grimm & Goris.

SECRETARY BAKER TO SPEAK TWICE IN ST. LOUIS TOMORROW

Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War, will arrive in St. Louis at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning to represent President Wilson at the national convention of life underwriters. He will be met at Union Station by committees representing the life insurance organization and the Business Men's League, and will be escorted to the Planters Hotel.

Secretary Baker will speak at the Coliseum at 8 o'clock tomorrow night, instead of 10 a. m., the hour at which the President was to have spoken. He will speak before the Business Men's League at the Missouri Athletic Association at 12:35 p. m. It is expected that at the luncheon he will discuss the eight-hour law which averted the railroad strike.

NEED FOR MONEY TO SAVE BABIES STILL IS URGENT

A single contribution of $1 was the measure of sympathy active yesterday in the cause of providing the poor and antebellum infants of St. Louis with the means for rallying from hot weather maladies and getting a fair start in life's race. That doesn't lift very much from the balance needed to make the $200 required to fund the plans for a successful 1916 campaign for a low rate of infant mortality, but it helps some.

Aside from its material effect there is the influence of example for the 800,000 population of the city upon whom rests the responsibility for its good name as a home center, along with other advantages. From that tremendous human force, with its vast financial power, or less than $100 is needed to minister fully to the hundreds of its helpless little wards. Pure milk could be furnished without stint for several months to those homes where infants are compelled, by reason of poverty, to take a hard chance for life and health.

The St. Louis Pure Milk Commission, basing calculation upon years of experience and careful study, estimates that it costs $1 a week to provide each baby dependent upon it with pure milk. For the periods of warm weather this means $18 to $20 for each of the infants to whom pure milk is furnished. And milk is furnished only to those where need for it is unmistakable. If parents are able to pay fully for the milk, they do so; if only in part, that is all they have to pay; if unable to pay anything, then the milk is provided absolutely free and delivered with the same regard for promptness and dependability as though it brought full return in dollars and cents.

In former years there have been benevolent men and women in St. Louis who based their contributions to the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund upon the knowledge that it would go a definite length in carrying life and health to the very poor babies. They knew that $25 would take good care of at least one such infant for an entire year, and they could properly take to themselves the satisfaction of having preserved to the parents and the community that little life, with all its wonderful possibilities for good to the country and the world in the years to come. That may have been the impulse behind many of the contributions during the current campaign, but the great bulk of the fund to date is the direct result of youthful endeavor, encouraged and sustained in most instances, of course, by parents and other grown people.

The urgent need at this juncture is for money to lighten the burden of the Milk Commission. The occasion for free ice is near its end until another summer arrives, although the supplies will not be discontinued until the temperature warrants. For pure milk the demand is continuous, and the extra expense to which the Milk Commission has been imperatively subjected for the past several weeks creates a problem that the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund is looked to for solution. That fund is in the broadest sense a public institution, the medium through which the public lends its support to this most vital philanthropy.

JAPANESE OFFICER CHOSEN AS MILITARY ADVISOR IN CHINA.
 Lieutenant-General Nobusumi Selected Under Demands Made by Japan Last Year.

TOKIO, Sept. 19.—Great satisfaction is felt in Japan over the choice of a Japanese military officer to be military advisor to the Chinese Government. Lieutenant-General Nobusumi Aoki has been selected by China for the post on account of his extensive knowledge of that country. In Japanese military circles he is a popular figure known as "The General of China." During the revolution which preceded the death of President Yuan Shi Kai he was sent to Shanghai on a special mission. He was once military attaché to the Japanese legation at Peking.

Appointment of Japanese advisors was included in the demands made by Japan upon China last year. That the Chinese Government should now select a Japanese military advisor is regarded here as indicating the arrival of a period of more friendly relations between Japan and China.

The recent clash of Japanese and Chinese troops at Cheng Chiatun, on Mongolia, where 11 Japanese soldiers were killed or wounded has created little excitement in Japan and there is every indication that the difficulty will be settled peacefully.

WILL WORK FOR SCHOOL BONDS

Two hundred representatives of schools, patrons' associations, civic, business and improvement associations, attended the meeting. A committee of 15, with Judge Thomas C. Hendricks as chairman, was named to nominate permanent officers and report to a meeting today.

EPIC OF CIVILIZATION AFTER PARADISE DISCOVERED

Translation of Nippur Tablet Tells of Fall of Man and the Flood.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—A Sumerian epic, which tells the story of the reconstruction of civilization after the deluge, has been discovered on one of the famous Nippur tablets, in the University of Pennsylvania Museum. Announcement of the completion of the translation of the epic was made by Dr. Stephen H. Langdon, assistant curator of the museum here.

The epic, according to Dr. Langdon, takes up the history of civilization after Paradise, the fall of man and the flood and is a sequel to the Sumerian epic which he translated a year ago. The fragment which contains the latest story is four and one-half inches long and one inch thick. It contains about 200 lines of inscriptions. It dates from about 2250 B. C., and hence represents a literature older than that of the Babylonians and the Chaldeans.

GARDNER HOME FROM WEST, TAKES UP HIS CAMPAIGN

Gubernatorial Candidate Begins Work on Speech for Chillicothe Meeting Saturday.

Frederick D. Gardner, Democratic candidate for Governor, who returned to St. Louis today from California to finish his keynote speech, which will be delivered at his campaign opening at Chillicothe Saturday, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he has not yet had time to give serious consideration to the challenge of Judge Henry Lamm, Republican candidate for Governor, for a debate on the merits of the Gardner land bank bill.

"I have been occupied with other matters during my absence from the State," Gardner said, "and I have just gotten off the train after a long journey. I have not really decided whether I will debate the proposition with Judge Lamm."

Gardner's political advisers, with whom he will confer while he is in St. Louis, will suggest to him that he answer Judge Lamm's attacks in his speeches and refuse to be drawn into a debate. Gardner is a business man, while Judge Lamm is a lawyer of more than 20 years' experience, and is rated as one of the keenest debaters in the State. Gardner's friends say it would not be fair to him to have him come into a debate under such circumstances.

It is not likely that any joint debate will be held, but Gardner will undertake to meet all of the attacks made upon his land bank measure by Judge Lamm in the speech he will deliver at Chillicothe.

The principal attack made by Judge Lamm upon the Gardner measure was that if the bill should be validated by a constitutional amendment, it could be changed except by another constitutional amendment. All constitutional amendments have to be voted upon by the people. The constitutional amendment to be submitted to the voters in November, authorizing the Legislature to establish the land bank bill and appropriate $1,000,000 for its capital stock, provides that the Legislature may enact laws to correct any of its defects or to improve it.

A debate between Gardner and Judge

Lamm would naturally hinge upon this legal point. Gardner, not being a lawyer, would have to rely, in a debate, it is pointed out by his friends, upon the opinions of his legal advisers.

Mrs. Gardner Improved. Gardner said that he was feeling fine, and that he would be ready to make a vigorous campaign. Mrs. Gardner, who has been sick for several months, was not able to come home with him. He said she would remain in California for several weeks. Her recovery has not been as rapid as expected, Gardner said, but he said she was much better than a few weeks ago, and everything was favorable for the complete restoration of her health.

The Democratic nominee believes that he will be elected by a large majority. His friends who met him at his home conveyed information to him that the poll of St. Louis, made recently by the Democratic City Committee indicated that an average of 50 Republicans in each of the 500 precincts of the city were going to vote for him for Governor. Gardner's friends are confident he will carry St. Louis over Judge Lamm, despite the normal 25,000 Republican majority.

There will be a big delegation of St. Louisans at Chillicothe Saturday to hear Gardner's initial speech of the campaign. The speech will be delivered in a big tent, with a seating capacity of 400. Senator Reed, a candidate for reelection, and Speaker Champ Clark also will speak at Chillicothe. Gardner and the other speakers are scheduled to speak at Brookfield Saturday night.

No itinerary has been made out for Gardner, but it is probable that he will speak at Flat River, St. Francois County, Monday, Sept. 25, and at the State Fair at Sedalia, Sept. 27.

Judge Lamm is making a tour of the counties near St. Louis this week. He is scheduled for speeches in Flat River and Farmington today, and tomorrow he will be in Iron County. He will spend the balance of the week in Franklin, Pike and Lincoln counties.

Former Gov. Joseph W. Folk will start out next Monday at Flat River with tent outfit No. 2. The Democratic State

Committee is eager to have Gardner speak with Folk at several points in Southeast Missouri. One set of tents will be shifted back and forth across the northern part of the State, and the other set will be kept south of the Missouri River. Gardner, Reed and a score of speakers of national reputation will speak at many of these meetings.

AUTOCARS HAVE STANDARDIZED DELIVERY SERVICE CHASSIS $1650

Mr. E. W. Brandenburger, general sales agent of the Bald Eagle Coal & Mining Co. of St. Louis, says:—"We have had very gratifying results from our Autocar. During the hot weather of August, when horses were up against it, the car covered its delivery routes quickly, pleasing both our customers and ourselves by its prompt service. A splendid feature of the Autocar is the automatic power hoist and its ability to chute coal into most any place in a very few moments—no waste of time at place of delivery."

More than 4000 other concerns in all lines of business use the Autocar. Call on the Steel Morgan Motor Car Company, 16 North Euclid Av., St. Louis distributors for the Autocar Company, Ardmore, Pa., or write for illustrated catalog.

Movie Actresses
 and Their Hair

Did it ever occur to you that every movie actress has lovely hair, while the most popular stars of the stage have no hair?
 In fact, this is a secret, many are leading ladies just because of their attractive locks. Inquiry among them discloses the fact that they bring out the natural beauty of their hair by careful shampooing, not with any soap or makeshift, but with a simple mixture which they make up for themselves, by putting a teaspoonful of Resinol in a cup of hot water and applying this instead of soap. After using their hair dries rapidly, with no color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. The hair is so fluffy that it looks much heavier than it is. Its texture and softness is delightful, while the stimulated scalp gains the vitality which insures hair growth.

At the first sign of skin trouble apply
Resinol

That patch of eruption is not necessarily a serious matter! Even in severe,
 well-established cases of eczema, ringworm or similar affections, Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap usually relieve the itching at once and quickly overcome the trouble completely. How much more, then, can this simple, inexpensive treatment be relied on to dispel skin troubles in their earlier stages.

The Blossom of the Brenta

A Story of Northern Italy

(The mountain passes between Austrian Tyrol and the Italian province of Venetia were the scene of fighting a little more than a century ago, when Italian troops under French aid broke through into the Venetian city of Vicenza and the valleys leading northward which are prominent points in the present war.)

In 1808, if a stranger in Padua asked what was best worth seeing, the Paduana did not mention first of all the Prado della Valle or the Palazzo della Giustizia. They did not even lead with the famous stuffed cat of Petrarch.
 Padua of that time there was something more notable. Behind a golden mesh of eyelashes were eyes of the deepest blue. Her mouth was made to kiss—no body in Padua could boast that he had tested this apparent art.
 Eufemia was as shy and modest as she was beautiful; and it assuredly was not her fault that there was so much mistake playing under her window that the Cremona string makers were hard put to it to furnish strings enough.

When Eufemia was 15, it happened that she was saved from being trampled by a runaway horse by a gallant young student who long had been eminent among the serenaders, flower-senders and sonnet carvers who adored
 the Blossom of the Brenta, as Padua had christened the coy Eufemia. In the first flush of gratitude, Papa Pappagalli invited the hero to his house and the hero did not wait to be asked twice.
 By the time Papa Pappagalli had recovered the power of cool reflection, the hero was clinging to his house
 like plaster, and all Padua knew that the Blossom of Brenta had succumbed
 at last and was madly in love with Emilio di Castell-Viscardo.

Papa and Mamma Pappagalli yielded family to fate. If their compliance was accelerated by the knowledge that Papa Vicenzo Viscardo was one of the richest bankers of Vicenza, the lovers
 did not care.

Papa Viscardo, however, happened to care a great deal, and he sent his son and heir a letter that was a tablet of condensed poison and gall. His senescled, he wrote, at the thought that a Castell-Viscardo, a noble of Vicenza, could descend so low. The armorial bearings on the family escutcheon (three creatures that looked suspiciously like baboons) were on the point of turning pale with shame, he wrote, that the heir of the race should woo the child of a beard scraper.

Thus ungenerously did Papa Viscardo
 refer to the fact that Papa Pappagalli was a barber. He was not even mannificent enough to admit that Papa Pappagalli was a most wonderful barber, whose razor passed over Paduan cheeks as lightly as a swallow flits
 over a pond. No! He wrote frankly and rudely, and he wrote with an effort with a soulful promise to dis-
 inherit his son and curse him parentally
 unless he returned to Vicenza forthwith.

Had Emilio been a lover in romance,
 he would, of course, have defied the parental ban. Being a realist, however, he kissed his Eufemia and went home
 to see what humbly and outward obedience could do.

JUST then a person in the Tyrol, who knew neither Emilio nor Eufemia, put his finger unwittingly into their affairs. He was Andreas Hofer, the Tyrolean patriot. He raised his people and they threw the invader out of their country.

Napoleon raised troops at once in France and Italy to readjust the matter. Emilio tossed the financial inkpot against the wall with great delight and took the field at the head of a voltigier company.

There was not so much delight in the Pappagalli home. Eufemia cried because Emilio was going to danger, and Papa and Mamma Pappagalli wept because of something still more serious to them. The authorities drafted their son, their son Toma.

Toma was Eufemia's twin brother, so like her that they could not have been distinguished but for their hair. He was tall, for he was not a bit bloodthirsty and longed for no glory except that of welding a razor and dressing hair. The woe of the Pappagallis made their street echo.

The rough soldiers only laughed at Toma's sorrow. They hustled him away, clapping him on the back and addressing him joyously as "Princess Pappagalli."

A week later he was sitting wearily
 in barracks in Vicenza when a fellow soldier appeared before him at dusk and whispered: "Toma!" It was his sister Eufemia. "Quick!" said she. "Our parents are wild with grief. I could not bear to see it. Nobody can tell us apart. We must change places. Quick!"

She did not think it necessary to add that she had made up her mind to follow the army in the hope of finding her Emilio and fighting by his side.

Toma was embarrassed. He shifted from one foot to another, but Eufemia gave him no time to think, and his week's service had given him even less desire than before to be a great and famous hero. In less than 20 minutes he was on his way home clad in his sister's dresses, and she was in his uniform.

She shut her eyes next day when the guns went off, and she made a mistake every time an order was given. Nobody thought it strange, for Toma had done all these things consistently. Within another week the false Toma had improved so that all the officers wondered.
 "He" could shoot quite as well as the other recruits.

The order came to advance. The Italian regiments climbed the crest of Cavallo belis and cast a farewell look at their land of olive groves and blue sky, before they entered the grimest war that men can wage—the war of invaders against inhabitants.

WHEREVER the Italian columns
 moved, shots poured at them from hidden rocks and from inaccessible crags. Great rocks rolled down upon them. Mighty tree-trunks leaped down and over and thundered among them. Every Tyrol peasant had a gun and knew how to use it.

 Every Tyrol woman touched torch to her hut rather than leave it for the invader.

One morning, in the passes leading through to Rovereto and Trent, the troops were caught by enflaming fire in a valley-like basin. A French General gave command to the voltigier regiments to charge the heights. Though it was an order to go to death, the soldiers obeyed. They rushed against the rocky walls and fell back, killed by bullets or smashed by hurled stones. All ways they were replaced by more.

A tall, handsome young Lieutenant advanced with a shout and led a fresh assault against the stony front. The next moment he struck at his chest with his clenched fist and fell backward.

 Eufemia, standing with the reserves,
 threw away her gun and ran screaming
 through the rain of fire. She reached Emilio and dragged him away to a shelter behind the rocks. Not until she saw him open his eyes did she realize that she, herself, had been wounded.
 Then she fainted.

Three months later all Padua was on its way to the Church of St. Antony.
 Padua's interest was explicable, for something was to happen that had not happened often in military annals. A Lieutenant of the army was to marry a private.

Behind Lieut. Castell-Viscardo and Private Eufemia in the wedding procession walked Papa Pappagalli and Papa Vicenzo arm in arm. The blood of the two families shed on the battlefield had knitted together the three armorial baboons and the razors and hair tonic.

This story is one of the "Venetian
 Novels" by Baron Franz von Gaudy (1800-1840), a German author who began life as a soldier. In his preface
 he says the original stories
 came to him through an aged Venetian who told stories daily on the streets of Venice like the storytellers of the Orient.

PROTEST STUDIED
Considers German Loan
Sept. 19.—State officials today took up protest filed against a loan equivalent to the German loan because the National bank declined to accept director, M. Carlier, who into prison.
The protest was carried in news columns from Berlin. It is a beautiful protest which would consider the justifying interference.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The Evening Post in its financial review today says: "The market was quiet, the selling and buying of the day being mostly in the hands of the foreign market."

Foreign Exchange Markets.

Don't Ever Let Anyone Tell You This as a New One.
I ONCE moved in the same circle with Mrs. De Style.
"I was."
"Fact. We got on the same merry-go-round."

Like Master Like Man.

NO such thing as stuck-up-ness about her," says the loyal servant, defending his mistress against the criticisms of the acquaintance who is inveighing against class discrimination and the attitude of the wealthy toward the working element.
"Well, but don't she order you around?"
"Sure, she does. But, Lord, she knows me out just the same as what she does her husband. She don't make no difference between me an' him, even."—Judge.

Question Time.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN, having concluded one of his lectures on temperance, announced that it was now "question time."
Thereupon a girl rose and asked: "Mr. Bryan, would you advise a girl to marry a man to reform him?"
"My dear young lady," Mr. Bryan replied, "the risks are quite great enough when a girl marries a man who doesn't need to be reformed."

Breaking It Easy

AN Ohio man was having a lot of trouble piloting a one-tent show through the Middle West. He lost a number of valuable animals by accident and otherwise. Therefore, it was with a sympathetic mind that one of the keepers undertook the task of breaking the news of another disaster. He began thus:
"Mr. Smith, you remember that laughing hyena in cage 3?"
"Remember the laughing hyena?" demanded the owner, angrily. "What the deuce are you driving at?"
"Only this, Mr. Smith, he ain't got nothing to laugh at this morning."—Brooklyn Citizen.

Yet Time Flies Alone.

SO you want to know where flies come from, Tommy? Well, the cyclone makes the house-fly, the blacksmith makes the fire-fly, the carter makes the saw-fly, the driver makes the horse-fly, the grocer makes the sand-fly and the lodger makes the butter-fly.

ONE thing in favor of stenographers is they hardly ever refer to the commercial college as their alma mater.

Close Behind It.

TWO members of the Massachusetts Medical Society met the other day. Said one:
"I heard today that your son was an undertaker. I thought you told me he was a physician."
"Not at all."
"I don't like to contradict, but I'm positive you did say so."
"You misunderstood me. I said he followed the medical profession."

We've a Dog Like This.

I WAS awakened last night by a peculiar rapping sound, and when I went downstairs I found a burglar about to walk off with my silver.
"What was the rapping sound that aroused you?"
"My watchdog was lying under the dining-room table, wagging his tail at the burglar."

Couldn't Dodge It.

A MAN met a woman acquaintance on the street and she asked him to come to her home for dinner some evening soon. He doesn't care much for her.
"How about Sunday night?" she asked.
"Got a date," he replied.
"Well, Monday."
"Can't do it."
"Tuesday, then?"
"Sorry, but I can't get there."
"Let's make it Wednesday."
"Oh, piffle!" said the man. "I'll come Sunday."

Rest Needed.

THE pretty restaurant cashier had applied for a holiday.
"I must recuperate," she said. "My beauty is beginning to fade."
"That so?" said the proprietor.
"What makes you think so?"
"The men are beginning to count their change."
She got her holiday.

THE skeptic who says "It can't be done" is being interrupted continually by some chap doing it.

Our Rulers.

AND do you elect all of your rulers by ballot?" asked the foreigner.
"Not all of them," replied the American. "Our wives are wished on us."
—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Just as Now.

I wonder why they built that Chinese wall.
"Sort of a compromise, I presume. I judge there was strong disagreement party in those days."

FACTS NOT WORTH KNOWING.

ESKIMO houses are hermetically sealed and when an Eskimo wants ventilation he opens a can of sardines or a bop.

Wearing false whiskers won't disguise you any in a telephone conversation.

By a decision of the Supreme Court of Goofusburg a toothbrush is baggage.

The District Court of Gippersburg has decided that stealing a thimbleful of smoke is just as much of a robbery as taking a whole tubful.

By a system of mirrors arranged alphabetically it is possible to make a single shoe button look like a whole dozen.

Remember that gold fish become envious when compelled to swim in one direction all the time. Fill the aquarium with reversible water so they can swim to and fro.

The Test.

WHAT assurance have I that you do not wish to marry me merely for my money?" demanded the heiress.

The impecunious suitor drew himself up proudly.
"Money is nothing to me," he sneered. "I shall be happy in the prospect of never earning a cent in my life, so long as I have you."

And, having put him to the test, she was supremely content.

Doom of Golf.

BISHOP MURRAY, on his way to preach in Nashville, steamed in his train past a golf course crowded with players.

Bishop Murray frowned.
"In the millennium," he said, "every day being Sunday, mankind will get surfeited with golf, and the game will then undoubtedly become extinct."

Extravagant Chorus Girl.

APROPOS of Hetty Green, Dr. Cooke Marsden Hawes, the Chicago sociologist, said in Hull House.

"She lived like a pauper to teach the American people a lesson in economy—or so, at least, she said."

"Well, such economy as hers makes me think the show girl was right."

"Economy!" cried the chorus girl, draining her glass of champagne. "Don't talk to me about economy! Economy is merely the science of spending your money without getting any fun out of it."

Unprovided.

THE rain broke up the preparedness parade, didn't it?"

"Yes, nobody thought to bring an umbrella."

One Advantage.

THERE'S one good thing about owning a cheap car.

"And what is that?"

"When you take a friend out for a spin, he never tries to create the impression that the machine is his, as he is apt to do when he grafts a ride in an expensive car."

Natural History.

HOW do you keep moths out of clothing?" asked the girl with a needle and thread.

"Why," replied the girl with a story book, "I didn't know they wore any."

As He Knew It.

TEACHER: Tommy, can you spell "Hullo, Newed, why so somber?"

Tommy: Yes, sir; f-u-r.

Teacher: That's right. Now can you tell me what fur is?

Tommy: Yes, sir. Fur is an awful long way.

Hard Luck.

"Say, old man, I've made a very painful discovery. My wife can't sing."

"Painful? Why, man, you are to be congratulated."

"If the same person congratulated me, I'd say she thinks she can."
